

Susan T. Mahan, Ph.D. at USF and Marquette U. specialized in Late Medieval and Reformation theology and did her dissertation on the Theological Anthropology of Julian of Norwich. Since then she has taught ethics, spirituality, and world religions at Santa Clara University, San Jose State University and USF. She is a master catechist for the Diocese of Monterey, the director of adult education for St. Andrew Presbyterian, Aptos, CA for 25 yrs., a monthly presenter at Villa Maria del Mar Retreat Center in Santa Cruz, on the faculty of the Pierre Favre Program at the Jesuit Retreat Center of Los Altos, a certified spiritual director and the Executive Director of IF: People Seeking Possibilities, a social justice non-profit. She is married and has three grown children.